THE KIND OF PEOPLE WHO WEARY GOD - Malachi 2:17- 3:5 - "You have wearied the Lord with your words. But you say, "How have we wearied him?" By saying, "Everyone who does evil is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delights in them." Or by asking, "Where is the God of justice?" [3:1] "Behold, I send my messenger and he will prepare the way before me. And the Lord whom you seek will suddenly come to his temple; and the messenger of the covenant in whom you delight, behold, he is coming, says the Lord of hosts.[2] But who can endure the day of his coming, and who can stand when he appears? For he is like a refiner's fire and like fullers' soap.[3] He will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver, and he will purify the sons of Levi and refine them like gold and silver, and they will bring offerings in righteousness to the Lord.[4] Then the offering of Judah and Jerusalem will be pleasing to the Lord as in the days of old and as in former years.[5] "Then I will draw near to you for judgment. I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers, against the adulterers, against those who swear falsely, against those who oppress the hired worker in his wages, the widow and the fatherless, against those who thrust aside the sojourner, and do not fear me, says the Lord of hosts."

This is a passage of Scripture that deals with how God works His way into the hearts of His people. It's about how spiritual change takes place. It's about my involvement in moving with or against the purifying influences of His Spirit beyond certain easy plateau levels of spirituality.

The process of spiritual purifying involves more than just words or the practice of religion. This is the idea in our text. When God speaks through the prophet about "launderer's soap"(3:2) and the "refiner's fire"(3:3). The primary idea is spiritual purification takes place at a deeper level of our lives than the part people see on the surface. Soap, especially very strong soap, works into the inner recesses of the stain.

1) A DESCRIPTION OF A BARREN RELIGION - Malachi 2:17 - "You have wearied the Lord with your words. But you say, "How have we wearied him?" By saying, "Everyone who does evil is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delights in them." Or by asking, "Where is the God of justice?" What is the cause of God's weariness? Two sources are mentioned in these verses:

- a) They hadn't allowed themselves to be benefitted by God's reproofs - They had set their hearts to argue with the Lord. They had forsaken a simple listening to God's Word. They always had a come-back. You can see the pattern in that seventeenth verse - "You have wearied the Lord with your words. But you say, "How have we wearied him?"" This is the way they had come to set their hearts before the Word of God.

This response becomes habit forming. You can see this in the book of Malachi: Malachi 1:2 - "I have loved you," says the Lord. But you say, "How have you loved us?" Malachi 1:6 - "And if I am a master, where is my fear? says the Lord of hosts to you, O priests, who despise my name. But you say, 'How have we despised your name?' Malachi 1:7 - "By offering polluted food upon my altar. But you say, 'How have we polluted you?'" Malachi 2:17 - "You have wearied the Lord with your words. But you say, "How have we wearied him?" Malachi 3:8 - "Will man rob God? Yet you are robbing me. But you say, 'How have we robbed you?'" Malachi 3:13 - "Your words have been hard against me, says the Lord. But you say, 'How have we spoken against you?'"

- b) The people of God no longer distinguished between right and wrong. They continued to be interested in God for His blessing on their lives. They continued in their religious practices. But they didn't apply their religious convictions to the moral decisions of daily living.

Malachi 2:17 - "You have wearied the Lord with your words. But you say, "How have we wearied him?" By saying, "Everyone who does evil is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delights in them." Or by asking, "Where is the God of justice?"

It's important to notice the two issues raised by the prophet in Malachi 2:17 - "You have wearied the Lord with your words. But you say, "How have we wearied him?" By saying, "Everyone who does evil is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delights in them." Or by asking, "Where is the God of justice?"

Look at that second question first. These people were quick to complain when God wasn't blessing their lives. Why wasn't He listening to their prayers? Why didn't His glory dwell in that new temple they built? It just wasn't fair. Where was the God of justice? In other words, they were keenly aware of God not listening to them, but totally unconcerned that they weren't listening to God. And they made no mental link between the two.

And the point I want to make is this. This is the inevitable spiritual blindness that comes from trying to keep in touch with a God you know is holy while persistently organizing your life around your own agenda and desires. You will always end up numb and senile to your own sinful condition and bitter against a God who won't change His mind about His commandments. It always works out this way.

I said the people ended up numb and senile to their own sinful condition. The only remedy to that condition is repentance. But there's an urgency to repentance. You can't turn genuine, Spirit-fueled repentance on and off at will. If you ignore a quick and deep repentance for sin your mind will automatically take a different direction. You will remake another God in your own likeness.

Look at this in our text - Malachi 2:17 - "You have wearied the Lord with your words. But you say, "How have we wearied him?" By saying, "Everyone who does evil is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delights in them."

If you don't turn in repentance from your sin you only have one other option for self-preservation. You imagine a God who delights in everyone and just wants them all to be happy. You create a God who never judges. This is Christianity on drugs. It may temporarily feel good, but it's all a delusion.

And it is very easy to do this. It's easy because God's judgment doesn't always come immediately upon the commitment of sin. There's frequently a delay. Sometimes a very long delay. And when nothing seems to be at stake, people quickly think obedience doesn't matter too much to God.

Let me close by reminding all of us of the relevance of this kind of self-deception. True, Malachi's words were recorded a very, very long time ago. It seems like a dusty, archaic past. But let's move the view into a more contemporary mode. In fact, let's look into the future. Let's look, not at where people have been, but at where we're all going to be. And what you'll see is this very same deception causing spiritual blindness and eternal loss and damnation:

2 Peter 3:3-10 - "...knowing this first of all, that scoffers will come in the last days with scoffing, following their own sinful desires. [4] They will say, "Where is the promise of his coming? For ever since the fathers fell asleep, all things are continuing as they were from the beginning of creation." [5] For they deliberately overlook this fact, that the heavens existed long ago, and the earth was formed out of water and through water by the word of God, [6] and that by means of these the world that then existed was deluged with water and perished. [7] But by the same word the heavens and earth that now exist are stored up for fire, being kept until the day of judgment and destruction of the ungodly.[8] But do not overlook this one fact, beloved, that with the Lord one day is as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day. [9] The Lord is not slow to fulfill his promise as some count slowness, but is patient toward you, not wishing that any should perish, but that all should reach repentance. [10] But the day of the Lord will come like a thief, and then the heavens will pass away with a roar, and the heavenly bodies will be burned up and dissolved, and the earth and the works that are done on it will be exposed."

I guess we need Malachi's warning after all.
